

Using QolorFLEX NuNeon to Create a Neon Sign

As a sealed LED linear product that is extremely flexible and bright, QolorFLEX® NuNeon™ can be an ideal replacement for traditional neon lighting, especially in highly dynamic environments like theatre.

With lighting design by Mark Barton and scenic design by Clint Ramos, QolorFLEX NuNeon was used to create a neon pink sign for SOFT POWER, a new off-Broadway musical at The Public Theater in New York City that explores America's place in the world from China's point of view. Lighting Supervisor Alex Brandt and Production Electrician Jennie Rodriguez collaborated with the Scenery Department to build the sign based on the designers' drawings and specifications.

SUPPLIES & TOOLS FOR SOFT POWER SIGN:

18 Reels of QolorFLEX NuNeon, RGB (P/N N914-RGB-5), sold in five-meter reels, to outline each of the letters and the exterior of the rectangle in neon pink.

QolorFLEX NuNeon Accessories, including 15" Four-Wire Leads (P/N N914-04), End Caps with Strain Relief (P/N N914-01), and End Caps (P/N N914-02)

Six LED Tape Dimmers and Power Supplies, one per character

MDF Board, final dimensions: 26' x 5'6"

CNC Router Machine to shape wood and carve channels to insert QolorFLEX NuNeon

System Pipe to mount final sign

"We used ideas from City Theatrical's Wreath Making video in conversation with scenic for ease of mounting and layout."

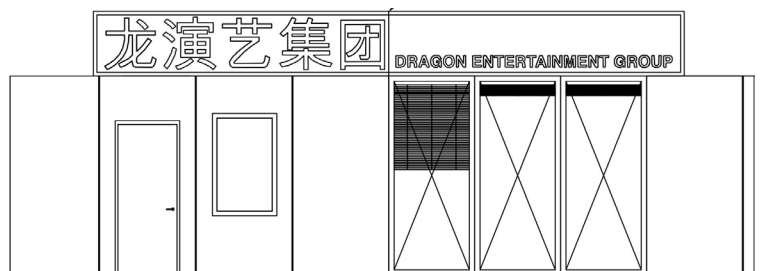

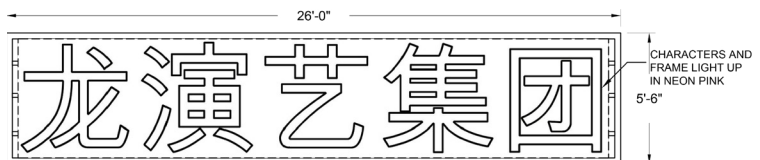

- Alex Brandt, Lighting Supervisor, The Public Theater
