PLASA 2008 Show Report

We started our big 2008 product launch season at PLASA by launching SHoW DMX and previewing our new iW Blast TR Lighting Kit.

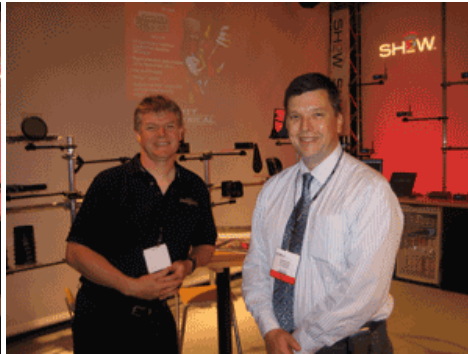

SHoW DMX has won two prestigious industry awards already, but this was its first appearance at PLASA and the booth was filled with visitors asking for demos and training, and seeking to learn more about SHoW DMX's unique synchronized hopping, and its three methods of mitigating its effect on WiFi signals.

Also shown was our new iW Blast TR Lighting Kit with its very bright white LEDs from Color Kinetics (Philips Solid State Lighting Solutions) with variable color temperature, individual controllers for intensity and color temperature, and accessories including stands, louvers, barndoors, nine different symmetrical and asymmetrical lenses and a durable carrying case. The iW Kit is either mains or battery powered and is perfect for ENG, film, video, and location lighting.

Here are some faces and scenes from the show:
